NEWS FROM MAULDIN & JENKINS, LLC

Mauldin & Jenkins Announces New Subsidiary, Advisory Information Technology, LLC

Atlanta, GA, February 18, 2020 – Top 100 accounting firm Mauldin & Jenkins, LLC is pleased to announce the addition of Advisory Information Technology, LLC (AdIT) as a new subsidiary. Atlanta-based AdIT will augment Mauldin & Jenkins’ current IT capabilities to expand the depth of technology-related offerings the firm provides.

AdIT brings a strong track record of delivering a robust set of technology and financial services to clients in diverse industries, helping them enhance processes and increase efficiency while minimizing risk, fulfilling regulatory and compliance responsibilities and solving complex business problems.

As a growing regional firm, Mauldin & Jenkins has significantly increased its presence in the Southeast in recent years as well as adding new services to support clients’ growth potential. As a division of Mauldin & Jenkins, LLC, AdIT will function as an independently operated subsidiary providing expert technology related support and services to a wide variety of clients.

Mauldin & Jenkins’ Managing Partner Hanson Borders welcomes the opportunity to join forces with AdIT and its founders, Jerry Jones and Matisse Long. “We believe that in addition to traditional business advisory and accounting services, it is critical that top-tier firms find new ways to meet client needs in an era of rapid technological change and an ever-evolving risk environment,” he says. “Our existing IT offerings have proven extremely popular. Having access to AdIT’s certified professionals and highly specialized skills will allow us to further elevate these services to meet the challenges and opportunities of a technology dependent business environment.”

“Their years of experience, specialized knowledge and commitment to excellence make AdIT a perfect fit with our values and our clients’ needs,” Borders continues. “I’m thrilled to have AdIT’s professionals as part of the Mauldin & Jenkins team and I’m confident our current and future clients will benefit from this additional resource.”
