About North Georgia National Bank

North Georgia National Bank opened its doors on February 10, 1999. Inspired by the leadership of an entirely local Board of Directors, the bank neglected the idea of a blind formula that places the fate of a decision in the hands of an office hundreds of miles away, but instead, focused on building relationships with each client to ensure the best product and service possible. Today, North Georgia National Bank is grounded in those same values. The bank operates two full service branches and a mortgage center in Gordon County and has recently expanded its presence in the Whitfield County market with a Loan Production Office located at 1412 Chattanooga Avenue, Extension. NGNB was a Finalist in the 2022 Chattanooga Times Free Press' Best of the Best Awards and holds a 4-star "Excellent" rating with Bauer Financial.
